Long-Range Attendance Boundary Planning

Fort Bend ISD is currently engaged in a long-range boundary planning process to relieve overutilization in some areas of the district and to balance enrollment across the district.

As we prepare for upcoming changes to school boundaries, we want to provide information to help our families understand the need for this process and to seek feedback, not on the attendance boundary changes themselves, but on how we can best support students, families, and staff during upcoming boundary changes and school consolidations.

Join us to learn more about the planning process.
